A Word from the Editor

Will Stanley, Editor, The REACTer

So, how many of you were surprised to see your Team in Team News when you hadn't submitted anything? Oh the joys of fishing in the Facebook pond! That actually worked fairly well, at least on my end, so I am going to do it again.

We need to find a way to modernize The REACTer so more of you will use it. I am open to any and all ideas, no matter how far out they may sound. So send me some ideas of what would make the REACTer more useful for you. Send to editor@thereactor.com. I guarantee you I read each and every letter that comes in and try to at least acknowledge them. Many of them we act on. Have you noticed that when you get your email telling you the new REACTer is ready and you download it, it doesn't download as 'current issue' anymore? It downloads as the proper month. I know a few of you have noticed since we goofed on the sentence above the link last month, not changing it from May to June! That change came about as a direct result of a suggestion from a member.

So, what is July about? It is the month that we celebrate our nation's independence from the evil, over-taxing, over-regulating Great Britain. What do you do? Does your Team help out with the local fireworks displays and other celebrations? If not, WHY NOT? Go to your local authorities and offer your help! That little thing might lead to more requests for assistance, you can never tell.

If you are doing more than just having a monthly meeting/social gathering, there is work out for you to do. GO FIND IT!

Southwestern REACT

(California)

Submitted by Roger McCullough

In the May issue of the (Southwestern) *REACT*er, there was an announcement saying that there would be an “Interdepartmental Training for Law Enforcement, Fire & EMS” program, put on by REACH-21, located at the Viejas Indian Reservation, near the casino, just off Willow Road, on Wednesday, May 8th. June (SWR 054) and I (SWR 098) went to the event to see what they had to offer. It proved to be an open house of Reach-21 air ambulances now serving San Diego and Imperial Counties.

REACH Air Ambulance, sponsored by Viejas Casino, has constructed a complete heli-pad for use by their and other air ambulances. Along with the REACH helicopter were three different Sheriff’s helicopters, each designed for a separate purpose (patrol, search and rescue with limited fire suppression equipment, and large-scale fire suppression, including a Cal Fire on board fire fighter).

Each helicopter came in with at least two pilots that took groups through the features, and safe operation near their unit when the Heli is operational. As a further feature, the people from REACH set out a large table with treats, snacks, and printed material about their service and helicopter operation in general. Several of their pilots, crew chiefs and operations manager were there to answer questions and describe their operation.

Small gatherings exchanging information, with the SDSO (older & being phased out) Patrol helicopter in the background. June McCollough, SWR 054

Early in the demonstration, REACH received a call that dispatched their aircraft, which returned later near the end of the demonstration. REACH also operates a heli-pad near Oceanside. In conversation with the REACH operations manager, she invited members of our team for a prearranged group visit whenever we wished. See June or I if you’re interested and we can set up a date. What we can learn from them could be just as important as what they learn about us.

A further report from Southwestern's Jay Pistiolas:

Giro di San Diego

Southwestern REACT/San Diego took part in the annual Giro di San Diego Bicycle Marathon which covered 105 miles of city and mountain biking.

Jay Pistiolas and George Reeves at the Giro de San Diego

Once again, Southwestern REACT kept our riders safe with our team members posted along the bike route at various water and rest stops. The Giro di San Diego is one of the largest cycling marathons in the country

Our team got to the Start/Finish line early to set up our portable repeater and to assign our team members at various checkpoints. Each member was to relay messages of any medical emergencies, water and food needs to field questions from participants. Cell phone service was either spotty or non-existent, so we used Ham radio on one of the wide area UHF Repeaters which provided excellent coverage throughout.

June McCollough was our Net Control operator with George Reeves, Patrick Gooden, Roger McCollough, Jim Patterson at the various water stops. I was roving the course escorting riders at the start with assistance from the California Highway Patrol.

Of the over 700 cyclists, only a few minor injuries were reported and dehydration was common. After 10 hours, we were tired but happy to report that the team did a great job and every rider got back safely!

It was a long, wet and wild day! I was helping Shelby PD with traffic due to severe storms that knocked out the power on the east side of Shelby, resulting in traffic lights being out.

I was dispatched at 5:45 p.m. and left that location at 6:55 p.m. when the traffic lights came on. Dispatch then sent me to another location where traffic lights were still out. I worked there until just after 10 p.m. when the lights came back on.

Shelby PD Units all thanked me for helping. I told dispatch I was available and to just call when they need me.

A personal aside to the 7-11 on Marion St. Thanks for the coffee! It was very good!

From The Corner of the Room

Joe Zych, REACT WW Net Coordinator
Director, Region Three

Well, July is here and so are the extreme heat breaking temperatures that slow us down and drain us quickly.

If you have radio equipment in your vehicle as most REACT members do, it is very important to cover your radio with a towel and provide shade to prevent damage to the circuit board.

I see so many people that mount their radio on top of the dashboard two inches from the glass windshield where the extreme heat factor is magnified and will cook the components, causing damage.

If you have no other choices for mounting your radio and you must use the dash, use a one inch thick piece of styrofoam on top of the radio to stop the penetration of the heat. Remember, dark colors absorb more heat than the lighter colors and most radios are dark colors.

Some have plastic, some have metal, protect your equipment!

The same holds true for your smart phone; exposure of sun to the screen can leave dark, burnt spots on the face of the phone. Just use good, safe practices to avoid a potential problem.

Until August, stay warm... no stay cool! It could be hotter in August! We will just have to wait and see.

From the Corner Of The Room, everyone take care, be safe, and 73.

How To Kill Your Team or Council in 11 Easy Steps

Here is an "oldie but a goodie" from an earlier *REACT*er. The points in this article are just as valid today as they were when Joseph wrote this article all those years ago. How many of these steps are YOU following?

How To Kill Your Team Or Council

*By Joseph L. Nadeau, Jr.
President, Tobacco Valley REACT #3625
Greater Hartford, Connecticut*

1. Don't come to meetings but, if you do, be late.
2. If the weather doesn't suit you, don't think of coming
3. Find fault with the work of your officers and members.
4. Never accept an office, for it's easier to criticize than do things.
5. If asked by a director or chairman to give your opinion regarding some important matter, tell them you have nothing to say. Then after the meeting, tell everyone how things ought to be done.
6. Do nothing more than absolutely necessary, but when other members roll up their sleeves and willingly, unselfishly use their abilities to help others to help the work along, howl that the organization is run by a clique.
7. Hold back your dues as long as possible or don't pay at all.
8. When a banquet, or function is given, tell everyone that money is being wasted on "blowouts," and parties. If there are no banquets or functions held, complain that the organization is dead.
9. Always keep your eyes open for something wrong.
10. When you attend a meeting, vote to do something and then go home and do the opposite. Agree with everything said at the meeting and disagree with it outside.
11. Get all the organization gives you, but don't give anything in return.

Hot Weather Safety

By John Wright
Southwestern REACT #042

Summer is almost upon us (June 21) and it's time to start considering hot weather safety precautions. We have two events scheduled for this month, June 15 and June 23, and it's liable to be hot on both days. With temperatures increasing, team members working events must be aware of the symptoms of dehydration, heat stroke and heat exhaustion and how to prevent them. Dehydration:

The following are symptoms of dehydration:

- Not urinating or having very dark yellow urine.
- Very dry skin.
- Feeling dizzy.
- Rapid heartbeat.
- Rapid breathing.
- Sunken eyes.
- Sleepiness, lack of energy, confusion or irritability.
- Fainting. Combating dehydration

The best way to combat dehydration is to drink plenty of water before dehydration becomes a problem. Also good are sports drinks containing electrolytes, such as Gatorade. ALWAYS avoid alcoholic beverages and beverages containing caffeine. Caffeine is a diuretic and can accelerate the loss of fluids and electrolytes.

Heat Stroke and Heat Exhaustion

The following graphic illustrates the differences between heat stroke and heat exhaustion. Treatment of heat exhaustion and heat stroke varies.

For heat exhaustion, do the following:

- Get the person out of the heat quickly and into a cool place, or at least shade.
- Have them lie down and elevate their legs to get blood flowing to their heart.
- Remove any tight or extra clothing.
- Apply cool towels to their skin or give them a cool bath. This will help regulate and lower internal body temperature.
- Have them drink fluids, such as water or a sports drink. Do not allow the person to guzzle them, but take sips. Do not give fluids with caffeine or alcohol.

Heat stroke is considered a life threatening medical emergency. The first action is to call 911 or seek assistance from trained emergency medical personnel. Remove the individual from the source of heat and apply cool cloths to lower their body temperature. Precautions The two most important things to remember during these hot day events are SHADE and hydration. A simple investment such as a wide-brimmed hat and sun glasses can go a long way in preventing heat related problems.

Team members should all have easily erect-able shade canopies that can be deployed on hot days and should have an adequate source of water. With a few simple precautions, team members should be fine.
